Learning Objectives
Participants will...

- Learn that Employment First is the presumption that all working age adults and youths with disabilities can, and should, be working side-by-side with co-workers without disabilities, earning minimum wage or higher.

- Understand Employment First principles must be based on clear public policies and practices that ensure employment of citizens with disabilities within the general workforce is the priority for public funding and service delivery.

- Review the core concepts of successful Employment First implementation.

- Explore the resources that APSE offers to promote Employment First.
Employment First is...

- A movement to deliver meaningful employment, fair wages, and career advancement for people with disabilities.
The Path to Employment

- Sheltered workshops; work activity centers
- Individual or group supported employment
- Competitive, integrated employment
Who Benefits from Employment First?

Employers: receive talented employees and specialized support for job acquisition and retention

Taxpayers: spend less money than they would to support an individual with disabilities in a segregated day program and gain the economic contributions and tax revenue of fair wages

People with Disabilities: gain employment, fair wages, benefits, and the dignity that arises from gainful employment

Communities: feel the economic force of fair wages spent in the local economy and the valuable lesson of witnessing the many abilities of people with disabilities

Families: see a family member in a fully competent role in the workplace
APSE and Employment First

• APSE is the ONLY national organization devoted to Employment First

• We promote E1 through:
  • Policy & Advocacy
  • Professional development
  • Sharing best practices & tools
Employment in the general workforce is the first and preferred outcome in the provision of publicly funded services for all working age citizens with disabilities, regardless of level of disability.
The current low participation rate of citizens with disabilities in the workforce is unacceptable.
Access to “real jobs with real wages” is essential if citizens with disabilities are to avoid lives of poverty, dependence, and isolation.
It is presumed that all working age adults and youths with disabilities can work in jobs fully integrated within the general workforce, working side-by-side with co-workers without disabilities, earning minimum wage or higher.
As with all other individuals, employees with disabilities require assistance and support to ensure job success and should have access to those supports necessary to succeed in the workplace.
All citizens, regardless of disability, have the right to pursue the full range of available employment opportunities, and to earn a living wage in a job of their choosing, based on their talents, skills, and interests.
Implementation of Employment First principles must be based on clear public policies and practices that ensure employment of citizens with disabilities within the general workforce is the priority for public funding and service delivery.
Inclusion or exclusion of the specific term “Employment First” does not determine whether a public system or agency has adopted Employment First principles. Such a determination can only be made in examining whether the underlying policies, procedures and infrastructure are designed for and ultimately result in increased integrated employment in the general workforce for citizens with disabilities.
E1 Statement for Self-Advocates

APSE Employment First Statement
Adapted by Green Mountain Self Advocates and Self Advocates Becoming Empowered

All people with disabilities should have opportunities to work. Public dollars should be used to pay for supports for people to work in the community.

People with disabilities, their families, and their allies believe that:

Too many people with disabilities do not have a job. This is unacceptable.

All people should have opportunities for real jobs with real wages. It will get us out of poverty. We will be more independent. We will feel more included.

All people, with and without disabilities, can work in jobs together earning minimum wage or higher.

Like everyone else, people with disabilities should have access to supports that they need to work successfully.

All people, no matter what disability they have, have the right to work a job they choose that matches their skills and interests.

Public policies must support people with disabilities having real jobs. Money for services should be spent on people having jobs in the community.

Just calling your state an Employment First state is not enough. “Employment First” is when everyone who wants a job, has a job.

We will know Employment First policies are working when people with disabilities:

- Earn minimum wage or higher.
- Have jobs with benefits.
- Own and run businesses.
- Feel welcome when applying for a job.
- Don’t live in poverty.
- Choose employment as one of the big goals in life.
- Get promoted.
- Are given the supports they need to work, no matter what type of disability they have.
- Have all kinds of jobs based on their strengths and talents.
- Get to try out different jobs, starting when they are teenagers.
- Have opportunities to change jobs and build a career.

If a person is not working in the community, this decision should be reviewed every year. A person’s team must write a report describing why the person is not working.

• WIOA defines competitive, integrated employment (CIE) as the preferred outcome.

Work settings where workers with developmental disabilities have opportunities to interact with, and work alongside, co-workers who do not have disabilities are considered integrated.

Data sources:
Key Concepts: Eliminating 14(c) and Subminimum Wage

There are measurable increases in employment of citizens with disabilities within the general workforce, earning minimum wage or higher with benefits.
Key Concepts: Self-Direction

Greater opportunities exist for citizens with disabilities to pursue self-employment and the development of microenterprises.
Key Concepts: Youth Employment Options

Young people with disabilities have work experiences that are typical of other teenagers and young adults.
Key Concepts: Meaningful Employer Engagement

Employers universally value individuals with disabilities as an integral part of their workforce, and include people with disabilities within general recruitment and hiring efforts as standard practice.
Key Concepts: Measurable Outcomes

Individuals with disabilities have increased incomes, financial assets, and economic wealth.
Key Concepts: Aligned Funding

Federal and State funding is sufficient so that quality services and supports are available as needed for long-term employment success.
Key Concepts: Ongoing Evaluation

A decision not to consider employment in the community for an individual is re-evaluated on a regular basis; the reasons and rationale for this decision are fully documented and addressed in service provision.
So, how do we get there?
